

Overview

Instructions for providing data for your website via the Curricula Management Tool

Overview

The Curricula Management Tool is software created by Partners Marketing Group that will help you manage certain types of content on your website, namely: programs, courses, directory data, campuses and departments. This document will help you provide direction to determine what content should be displayed for each of these areas of content.

Programs

The Curricula Management Tool publishes one web page for each academic (ie, for-credit) program the college offers. For each program page, there should be: a Title, a Major Code (ie, "AC03"), a Type (ie, "Diploma"), an Area of Study (ie, "Business Programs"), Campus Locations (where the program is offered), a Program Overview, Entrance Requirements, and a Course Overview. Optionally, program pages may also feature: Advisors and At-A-Glance information, such as salary expectations, total cost, etc). To get started, click on the "Programs" tab.

Courses

The Curricula Management Tool publishes courses on program pages and also allows you to manage a large database of courses that may or may not be currently offered. Course information includes: a Course Prefix, Course Number, Course Title, Credits, Contact Hours and Description. Courses may also include a Prerequisite and Corequisite. To get started, click on the "Courses" tab.

Directory

The Curricula Management Tool publishes staff and faculty contact information in a web-based directory, as well as on various other pages of the site. A directory listing includes several standard and optional pieces of information about each member, including a first and last name, title, campus and department affiliations, contact information and educational credentials. To get started, click on the "Directory" tab.

Campuses & Locations

The Curricula Management Tool publishes a set of campus and location pages, as well as associating campus and location data with programs, faculty and staff. For this document, no specific campus information (such as an address or phone number) is needed; that information is collected through a standard Content Audit process. This document only requires a list of the campuses, centers and locations that will be needed to associate with programs, faculty and staff. To get started, click on the "Campuses & Locations" tab.

Departments

The Curricula Management Tool publishes a set of department pages and also associates departments with faculty and staff. For this document, no specific department information (such as an overview of contact info) is needed. This document only requires a list of the departments that will be needed to associate with faculty and staff. To get started, click on the "Departments" tab.
